Your IT account

Congratulations, you have just obtained your IT account at the University of Luxembourg! If you had a temporary account or if you didn't have any account, you must follow the First login procedure from this guide.

Your IT account is valid for the duration of your registration for the current semester and will be extended to the following semester upon completion of your re-enrollment upon payment of the registration fees. In the event of non-payment, your computer account will be automatically deactivated the day after the official start of each semester

First login

Before your first login, you must initialize your password via the link: https://passwordreset.uni.lu

Please click on the first link to start the initialization procedure.

NB: Your temporary account password is not transferred to the IT account.

Enter your student ID (10 caracters).

Important: the domain must be « UNI » for your IT account, please don't select « ACME-PENDING » as it is reserved to temporary accounts.
